

Low-wage Parent Worker Symposium Transformative Approaches to Childhood Education

Join the UCLA Labor Center, Building Skills Partnership, SEIU-USWW Janitor Parents, community and union educators, LAUSD leaders and parent coordinators in an interactive session focused on discussing childhood education strategies and best practices.

Wednesday,
October 19th
10 AM -1PM
UCLA Labor Center
675 S. Park View St.
Los Angeles, CA 90057

A light lunch will be served.

Symposium Background:

We need more discussion on the networks and resources working families employ to navigate the educational system to support their public school learners. Through this symposium, parent workers and leaders in the K-12 community will have the opportunity to discuss the particular contributions and resources that parent workers bring to public schools and the unique strategies and models they apply for learner success. While parent workers face a host of challenges, we hope this dialogue will lead to an exchange of ideas and opportunities that can offer steps toward creative approaches and solutions grounded in working parents' needs.

For more information please contact: Janna Shadduck-Hernandez, Ed.D., Project Director at the UCLA Labor Center. Jshernandez@irle.ucla.edu or 310-400-4913

UCLA Labor Center